Gentlemen:

This is a complex situation and one we will never know for many years to come. I feel of all the alternatives number 2 looks to be the one that has both fish and people in mind. It also has our economic interest in mind. Good science is probably the best that we can count on in this situation. People and fish should both be in this equation. Lets not move backward, we need the big picture both ocean, river, and people before the whole story is told.

Sincerely

Kenneth C. Ponichtera
Division Forester
