Let us cover your problems

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

The very dependence of the Yakima Tent, on the agriculture that is now in place in Washington, Oregon, Idaho and Montana, would severely jeopardize our total sales.

Removal of any dam or hydro project could spell the end of Yakima Tent, which has been in business since 1923.

It is our opinion, that groups that propose the removal of any structure or loss of crops in any given area, should be the object of a law suit aimed at recovery of any monies lost over a 50 year period, starting on the day removal begins.

We propose such a law should be introduced into the state constitution of every state effected, to prevent loss of income to the very farms that feed us and others in the world.
