To whom this letter may concern:

I'm only 12 years old, but I would still like for you to include my opinion in this matter. If you breach the dams, have you ever thought of little towns like Pomeroy Washington? If you've even heard of it. It is so small that if you breach the dams, we will all lose our jobs. Pomeroy will become a ghost town. I may never see any of my friends ever, ever again. I may never see any of the people that I look up to again! All of us will be gone! For your information, I happen to live where I am right now.
