Deployed Corps employees available to speak

Walla Walla, Wash. – Organizations interested in having speakers who have deployed overseas in support of the Global War on Terror can contact the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers here.

Soldiers and civilian employees of the Corps' Walla Walla District have served on and returned from overseas deployments and are available for news media interviews or to present information as guest speakers on a wide range of subjects about the Corps' support to the nation's overseas requirements.

A Speaker's Bureau request form can be submitted electronically at:

http://www.nww.usace.army.mil/html/OFFICES/PA/Bureau/Speaker_Cover_Page.htm

For more information about this program or to arrange an interview with a recently-deployed Corps member, contact the Walla Walla District Public Affairs Office at (509) 527-7020.
